he Reserve Bank of India's (RBI's) decision to withdraw the incremental cash reserve ratio (I-CRR) is expected to benefit banks during the festival season. They are likely to increase deposit rates by up to 25 basis points (bps) in select maturity buckets. The rise in demand for funds to cover tax payments and meet quarter-end also mentioned that the inflation rate business targets could influence rate decisions by banks, according to bankers and money market executives. Not all banks are expected to resort to rate hikes; only those with asset-liability management mismatch in specific buckets would consider upward rate revisions.

Delhi-based Punjab National Bank has raised interest rates by 25 bps to 6.75 per cent for the 270 days to less than oneyear bucket. The revised rates came into effect on September 1, 2023.

On September 8, the RBI decided to withdraw I-CRR in phases, which will release about ₹1 trillion into the system by October 7, 2023. The first phase of withdrawal, which began on September 9, 2023, released ₹25,000 crore.

Treasury heads believe that in the short term, the decision will impact deposit rates as banks may not need to immediately raise deposit rates. However, in the medium term, factors such as liquidity conditions, asset-liability mismatches, and credit deployment opportunities will be considered. They

The one-year swap rate hit 7.10 per cent, the highest level since March 9, while the five-year swap rate rose to 6.85 per cent, a level last seen on November 9. ## Going back in time: Process to revive ancient shipbuilding begins today India has created an ancient ocean-accounts Q4FY23.

New Delhi, 11 September

In the aftermath of New Delhi's diplomatic achievement in hosting the G20 summit, the government is reaching further back in time to showcase its ancient heritage as a naval ship-building and ocean-going power.

The government's aim appears to be to create for India a narrative of a centuries-old naval power that the modern navy can hark back to. This would allow India to match 15th century Ming-era China, when the famous eunuch admiral, Zheng He, led an armada of huge warships and treasure ships to carry the Chinese flag to faraway Zheng He's success was nipped in the bud after six successful vovages, when his mentor, the Ming Dynasty's Yongle Emperor, died in 1424 AD, Hisson, the Hongxi Emperor, ordered an end to the voyages and the burning of the Chinese fleet. Many Chinese strategic thinkers, to this day, blame the ease with which western colonial powers subjugated Oing-era China on the lack of attention given to naval power in recent centuries.

going narrative, centred on the port of Lothal in Gujarat. On Tuesday, a project will be inaugurated in Goa for the revival of what the Ministry of Defence (MoD) has termed in a press release on Monday as "an ancient maritime The Indian Navy marvel-the stitched ship." "In a momentous initiative by the government, the Indian Navy, Ministry of Culture, and Hodi Innovations, Goa, are collaborating to reconstruct an ancient stitched ship. reminiscent of the ships that once sailed the oceans on India's ancient maritime trade routes," stated the MoD release.

The government said: "This endeavour, deeply embedded in India's cultural and civilisational heritage, is a symbol of our nation's rich shipbuilding legacy. Extensive research and consultation with a wide spectrum of subject matter experts have been  $instrumental \, in \, \widehat{conceptual} is ingthis \,$ ambitious project. This initiative involves multiple ministries. The Navy is overseeing the ship's design and construction and would be sailing the ship along what the government identifies as "ancient maritime trade routes".

The Ministry of Culture has fully funded this project, while the Ministry of Shipping and Ministry of External Affairs will support the project to ensure seamless execution of the international voyage. The Project has been approved by the National Implementation Committee.

The stitching work in the construction of this ship will be undertaken by a team of traditional shipwrights, led by Babu Sankaran, who the MoD says is an expert in stitched ship construction. This technique involves shaping wooden planks into the shape of a hull, using a steaming method. The planks will then be stitched together, using a combination of coconut fibre, resin, and fish oil.

"Once the ship is ready, a unique voyage will be undertaken by the Indian Navy along the traditional maritime trade routes using ancient navigation techniques," said the MoD.
